Your Chiropractor is a PulStar Doctor

What Does That Mean?

The PulStar's multiple impulse technology is a gentle solution that relieves the pain of musculoskeletal conditions without the popping and cracking of traditional chiropractic methods. Your chiropractor's choice to invest in the PulStar shows that they believe in the importance of offering the newest, state-of-the-art chiropractic technologies for patients like you to enjoy.

What is the PulStar?

Chiropractic patients already know that chiropractic care can improve their lives and their health, but with the PulStar® it's even more gentle, easier and faster than ever before. PulStar computerized multiple impulse therapy involves analysis and adjustment, giving the chiropractor a scientific way to determine problem areas and track improvements.

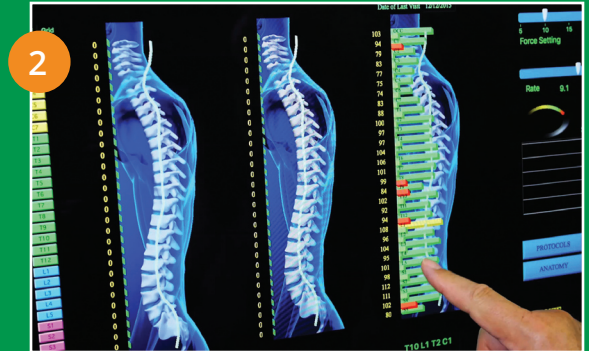

“I like that there's no actual popping, cracking, testing and turning. I like that it's computerized and you can actually see your change. The display screen is actually like a guide for the chiropractor.” – Amber, PulStar Patient

How it works

The computer analyzes your spine and identifies tight areas that need treatment, then helps the doctor apply precise pressure in precise areas.

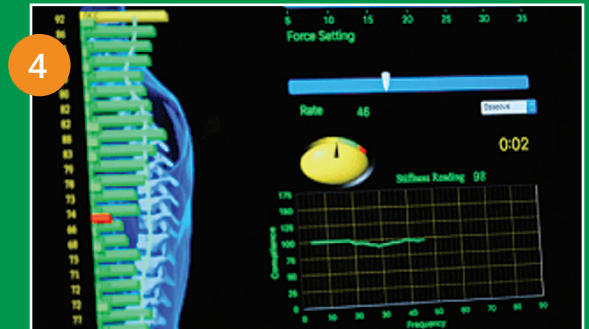

1 The chiropractor uses the PulStar to direct a gentle impulse to the patient's spine. It records the resistance given back to that force, then displays a graphic representation on the computer screen.

2 Red and yellow indicate problem areas.

3 Using impulse therapy, the doctor applies precise pressure in precise areas – no cracking and popping.

4 Patients often feel greatly reduced pain in three or four visits.

Between Visits

Many PulStar chiropractors are recommending between-visit use of new Essential Elements Lotion because it was designed to support multiple impulse therapy with muscle relaxation at the neurochemical level. This groundbreaking product has been clinically tested and dermatologically approved, but it's so new that distribution is limited to only PulStar doctors at this time. If you believe Essential Elements could help you, ask your chiropractor for a sample.
